NOTES.

¹Some of the descendants of William Woodhouse, bearing his name, still live in Princess Anne county. Among them are Major John T. Woodhouse, county treasurer, son of John, Jr., son of Capt. William. John J. Woodhouse, lately elected county judge, and vestryman of the Eastern Shore chapel (built in 1754), son of John, Jr., son of John, Senior, and Jonathan Woodhouse, vestryman of the Eastern Shore chapel, son of Jonathan, son of Captain Jonathan, son of Major Jonathan. Capt. Wm., John, Senior, and Major Jonathan were the sons of Capt. Wm., Senior, who was the son of Henry, who was the son of William, who was the nephew of Horatio and son of Henry the immigrant. ²His name is not mentioned in his father's will. ³For a sketch of Henry Woodhouse see William and Mary Quarterly, Vol. I., pp. 205 and 206. In the same article it is stated on the authority of Blomfield's History of Norfolk that Sir Henry Woodhouse was the son of Sir William Woodhouse by his second wife, but in the Visitation of Norfolk, edited by Walter Rye, and published by the Harleian Society, he is represented to have been by the first wife. ⁴Sir Wm. Dutton Colt's second "wife was Lucy d^r of Thomas Webb of . . . Kent. She lyes buried at Heilbrone in Germany in the great church y^r dyed." He was a "resident with y^e Elector of Saxony with the Elector of Hanover & elsewhere Knighted at Whitehall 26 November 1684." He was the son of "George Colt esq^r of Colthall Suff. drowned at Sea 1658 in exile with King Charles 2nd" and "Elizabeth", (his wife) "d^r & coheir of John Dutton of Sherborne Glouc. esq^r," who was the son of "S^r

Henry Colt of Colt Hall or Grey's Hall in Cavendish in Suffolk " and "Bridget' (his wife) "d^r of S^r Will Kingsmill of Sydmanton Hants K^t." From Le Neve's Pedigrees of Knights. ⁵For the abstract from the will of Horatio Woodhouse I am indebted to the kindness of Mr. C. P. Keith, of Philadelphia. ⁶Son of the immigrant. His will was made January 29th, 1686, and his estate, according to the Economic History of Virginia in the Seventeenth Century, by Philip Alexander Bruce, was appraised at 64,034 pounds of tobacco. ⁷Son of the above-mentioned Henry, and grandson of the immigrant. He died intestate, and on the 5th of November, 1702, commission of administration on his estate was granted his relict Mrs. Amy Woodhouse. ⁸Widow of Dennis Dally, cooper. The name finally became Dawley. The Economic History says he owned 600 acres of land in 1674. ⁹ and ¹⁰ sons of William, son of William the immigrant. ¹¹Son of Arthur, son of William the immigrant, who was a merchant from Rotterdam, Holland, who settled in Virginia in 1649. He was generally known as Edward Moseley, Jr., to distinguish him from his first cousin, Colonel Edward Moseley. He was a justice of Princess Anne county from February 8, 1710, to October 5, 1715. He left three sons, Edward, Jr., Palmer and Tully. It is highly probable that he was twice married. Tully was by his last wife, who was a Miss Emperor, daughter of Tully Emperor, son of Francis Emperor, the immigrant, who, it is probable, came from Norwich, England. ¹²Justice of Princess Anne county from January 3, 1710 to July 1, 1724 and from July 6, 1726 to December 4, 1728, sheriff from July 1, 1724 to July 6, 1726, and vestryman of "Linhaven Parrish " from August 4, 1724 to June 15, 1728. He made oath November 2, 1713 that he and his wife Mary came to Virginia in 1693, and he had not proved their importation before. In 1728 he married Yates Smith, single woman. He was from Cornwall, was a tanner, and some depositions, now lost, showed that he was of the yeomanry.

THE THRUSTON FAMILY OF VIRGINIA.

The entries already given from the curious old book in possession of Dr. John Thruston, of Louisville, are jotted down among other memoranda, chiefly prescriptions and recipes, written by Dr. Edward Thruston, of Ashton, who emigrated to Virginia. Among the friends of the family was Robert Rogers, Esq. (whose wife was one of the "gossips" at the baptizing of John Thruston, son of the John Thruston, chamberlain of Bristol). There is a curious entry entitled "The Epistle Dedicatory," addressed to this gentleman, which is worth reproducing:

THE EPISTLE DEDICATORY.

To the hon^l Robert Rogers, Esq., one of the ordermen of the Cittie of Bristol & to his Virtuous wife M^{rs} Anne Rogers grace mercy and peace . . . his life & . . . Glory in the world to come &c.
